Precision Profiles Ltd have worked with the Structures Test Laboratories at Airbus Filton since 1991.

Initially they were used to supply consumable and commercial grade materials. As their business has grown the scope of supply to the Structural Test Laboratories has increased to include the manufacture of small to medium sized fabricated test rigs as well as machined rig items. They have also provided coded onsite welding services to support test rig installation and modification.

Precision Profiles continue to support the test laboratories and react appropriately to meet often-demanding time scales.
